U.S. Tells Reds To Keep Word On TV Swap

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has challenged Russia to put up or shut up on the issue of exchanging broadcasts.

The State Department, in a note announced Friday, proposed a swap of delegations of radio and television experts next month to make technical studies preliminary to negotiating a possible schedule of broadcasts.

The issue has figured in discussions between Moscow and Washington since the summit conference and the Big Four foreign ministers meeting in 1955.

The U. S. government wants Russia to open its airways to uncensored programs from this and other Western countries. But American officials are by no means certain that the Soviets intend to do so.

State Department authorities believe that if the Soviets will now agree to an exchange of experts it may indicate a willingness on Russia's part to undertake an actual exchange of programs.

The technique of challenging the Soviets to stop talking generalities and get down to business is a standard one when Western governments decide to press for results — or alternatively to expose a Soviet maneuver as propaganda.

Northeastern Ohio Farmers Ready To Start Milk Strike

CLEVELAND (AP) — A strike for higher milk prices by northeastern Ohio dairy farmers is scheduled for midnight tonight.

The Ohio Dairy Farmers Bargaining Assn. has threatened to withhold milk from Cleveland, Akron and Canton markets unless its demands are met.

The association is reportedly asking $5.50 a hundredweight for milk. August prices under the Cleveland Federal Milk Marketing Order are expected to be $4.60 a hundredweight.

About 15 per cent of the dairy farmers in northeastern Ohio are represented by the association, according to the Ohio Department of Agriculture. If demands are

U.S. Scientific Great Dies at Age of 76

FALMOUTH, Mass. (AP) — Rain-maker Irving Langmuir, one of the scientific greats of the 20th century, died here Friday. He was 76.

Dr. Langmuir was vacationing on Cape Cod when he suffered a heart attack Wednesday.

Langmuir won many scientific honors, including the Nobel prize in chemistry in 1932. Besides pioneering in artificial rainmaking, he developed techniques that led to brighter and cheaper electric lighting and that helped make modern radio and television broadcasting possible.

He was a member of the General Electric Co. research staff for 40 years and continued as consultant to that company after retiring in 1950. His home was in Schenectady, N. Y.

Langmuir developed atomic hydrogen welding and a smoke-screen generator for military use. The artificial rainmaking technique, developed with two other scientists, consisted of seeding clouds with dry ice or silver iodide, or dropping water into certain types of clouds to cause rainfall by chain reaction.

In 1909, he began research to determine why light bulbs of that day darkened, thus cutting efficiency and wasting electricity.

The work led to the invention of the nitrogen-filled electric light bulb, which does not darken.

Graham Quotes Bible on Romance

NEW YORK (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham cited Biblical passage Friday night to show it is "perfectly natural for young people to have love affairs."

At the same time he urged teenagers to resist temptation and remain pure until marriage.

The Rev. Graham addressed 15,000 persons in Madison Square Garden in another sermon dealing with juvenile problems. Many in the audience were teenagers.

The evangelist pointed out that the Bible says Jacob courted Rachel for seven years and Isaac sought the advice of his parents when he wooed Rebecca.

Graham told his New York Crusade audience that there is nothing sinful about sex as part of God's plan.

Dems Confident On A-Power Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some Democrats voiced confidence today that Congress soon will send President Eisenhower a program for government construction of atomic power reactors.

These Democrats also said they are certain Eisenhower will sign the bill even though his administration opposes the power reactor proposals. They noted that the bill contains all of the regular authorizations for Atomic Energy Commission construction in the year ahead.

Several Democratic sponsors of the power reactor program took this view after the Senate Friday defeated all administration efforts to knock key reactor projects out of a $389 million atomic energy authorization bill. The measure then was passed by voice vote.

The outcome was different in the House, which last week stripped from the measure all but one of the key reactor provisions inserted by the Democratic majority in the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee. The House version follows more closely the administration's recommendations.

THE BILL NOW goes to conference, but Democrats from the joint committee will be in the majority among both Senate and House conferees. In that situation, the sponsors of the reactor program say they are sure they can save a good part of it, although some concessions may be made. The authorization measure must

Negro Shuns Protest of White Folks

LEVITTOWN, Pa. (AP) — A Negro family prepared today to move into their newly purchased home in this all-white community of 60,000 suburbanites.

The coming of the Myers family to this planned residential section in southeastern Pennsylvania had brought protests from many homeowners a few nights ago. A crowd gathered around the ranch-style structure, and rocks were hurled through the picture windows. Five persons were arrested for failure to heed police orders to move on.

In neighborhood meetings, on picket lines which formed in front of "the house," in stores and on street corners, people asked one another: "What are we going to do?"

The new owner of the house, William J. Myers, 32, an equipment tester studying for an engineering degree, said quietly but firmly: "I bought the home and I intend to live there."

James Newell, a leader of the Levittown Betterment Assn., suggested "an orderly picket line in front of the house" to a crowd of some 500 at a backyard meeting.

Gov. George M. Leader has dispatched state troopers to the scene.

The reporter was assigned the story after Mr. and Mrs. James Mikulecky and a granddaughter, Susan Wall, 15, reported to the Will County sheriff's office that ghosts were bothering them.

They gave this account: During the last week, a crocheting needle floated from a sewing box on their patio into the bedroom; a shoehorn from a bathroom medicine cabinet flew into the living room; a salad tossed itself all over the kitchen floor; chairs popped up and down, sometimes traveling 65 inches into the air; potatoes jumped out of a sink; tomatoes leaped up and splattered the kitchen ceiling; a cabbage and a quarter pound of butter hit Susan; mothballs bounced from a bed; and a tube of toothpaste wouldn't stay in a suitcase.

be enacted promptly so Congress can appropriate the money for the construction projects before it adjourns.

Democrats argued in Senate debate that their program was the minimum needed to maintain American leadership in atomic power. They contended no public power issue was involved and that the three big reactors in the program would provide current only for AEC installations.

Republicans, on the other hand, contended that the nation's atomic power program already is going well compared with Russia and Great Britain. They said the Democrats are striving to put the government into the power business.

Actress Named In Scandal Case

Maureen O'Hara Affair Is Related in Court

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Confidential magazine, fighting libel charges, has turned its defense guns on actress Maureen O'Hara in the opening stage of the magazine's effort to prove that its stories about stars were true.

When the defense launched its case Friday afternoon a witness testified that he ordered the red-haired Miss O'Hara and an unidentified Latin lover out of a Hollywood theater after he had twice discovered them in amorous embraces.

Such a story, which Miss O'Hara has denied, appeared in the March 1957 Confidential under the title "When Maureen O'Hara Cuddled in Row 35."

The man who said he saw and told is independent movie producer James Craig. He flew in from London and testified that the story as published by Confidential was correct.

Craig testified the incident occurred in November 1953 when he was assistant manager of Grauman's Chinese Theater.

He said Miss O'Hara and a man were holding hands when they entered the theater.

HE SAID ABOUT an hour later an usher came to him and asked him to check on a couple sitting in the rear row.

He said he turned his flashlight on the pair and "they jumped to attention and resumed their seats."

Craig said he returned to the foyer and later the usher came back and told him: "They're at it again."

Craig said he went to the rear row.

"Miss O'Hara was sitting on his lap," he related, "I told them they must leave. They said they were ready to go anyway."

Craig testified he told the incident to Michael Mordant-Smith, Confidential's European correspondent. He said the story was written for the magazine by Mordant-Smith. Craig said Mordant-Smith paid him about $200.

Mordant-Smith will be on the witness stand when the trial resumes Monday.

Stronger Bill Than Senate's Being Sought

House GOP Leader Says President Cool On Compromise Idea

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Martin (R-Mass.) said after a talk with President Eisenhower today that Republicans are "still standing pat" for a stronger civil rights bill than that being pushed by House Democrats.

The general feeling at the Capitol, however, was that the House and probably the Senate would approve next week a compromise bill embodying a modified jury trial amendment being sponsored by Rep. Celler (D-N.Y.).

Martin, the House GOP leader, had breakfast with Eisenhower at the White House and reported:

"We are still standing pat for the type of bill the President wants to give adequate protection to every single American who wants to vote."

Asked whether the amendment proposed by Celler gives such adequate protection, Martin replied:

"I don't think that's the kind of bill the President wants."

The House passed a bill closely tailored to Eisenhower's recommendations. The Senate revised it substantially. One change was the addition of a requirement for jury trials in all federal contempt of court cases.

EISENHOWER has objected strenuously to that provision.

Celler, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, has proposed that the jury trial provision be limited to cases involving voting rights.

Democrats tentatively scheduled House action on the bill next Thursday.

House acceptance of the Senate bill, with a House amendment limiting the jury trial proviso to voting rights cases only, would end the struggle. But it would go a long way in that direction.

The bill still would have to go back to the Senate for concurrence in the House amendment. Democrats, however, contend senators will agree to this change, but to nothing more.

But there was some talk that the Senate about a two-part change in the Senate bill. One part would limit the jury trial requirement to voting rights cases.

The other would give the attorney general authority to intervene in civil rights cases in general, if local authorities should ask him to do so.

The House bill would empower the attorney general to seek federal court injunctions against all kinds of civil rights violations. Persons violating such injunctions could be punished by the judge for criminal contempt. No jury trial would be provided in such cases.

As passed by the House, the bill conforms generally with Eisenhower's program.

5 Key Witnesses In Probe Missing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal marshals pressed their search today for five witnesses sought by the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee. Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) said the five "are on the lam."

Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy said staff aides and the U. S. marshal's office in New York have been unable to locate any of the five, wanted as witnesses in an inquiry into New York labor rackets.

Kennedy named only two of those sought: Benny (The Bug) Ross, a former Teamsters Union organizer, and Leonard Geiger, vice president of Joint Council 16, governing body of the Teamsters' 125,000 members in New York.

The committee, meanwhile, prepared to call some top international Teamsters officials, including the union's Midwest boss, James R. Hoffa, for questioning about activities in New York.

Thomas L. Hickey, a Teamsters vice president, testified Friday that Hoffa, heir-apparent to retiring Teamsters President Dave Beck, originated the idea of forming phantom Teamsters locals to vote in the union's New York council election in 1956.

HICKEY AND another witness, Martin Lacey, said the purpose of the phantom locals was to get additional votes to elect John J. O'Rourke president of the council, and thus place it under Hoffa's control.

Lacey, the man O'Rourke unseated, called the phony locals a fraud against the union. O'Rourke invoked the Fifth Amendment Thursday in refusing to answer all questions about the election and about any relationship with Hoffa.

Hickey announced from the witness chair he is a candidate for the union's presidency, and said he thinks there will be moves to get rid of him as a union official when the Teamsters hold their convention next month.

Hoffa will be questioned by the committee next week in the climax of the committee's exploration into McClellan's charge that Hoffa formed a corrupt alliance with labor racketeers Johnny Dio and Tony (Ducks) Corallo to increase his union power.

Blonde, 17, Finally Halted By Cop Bullet

BALTIMORE (AP) — A 17-year-old blonde, shot by police at the end of a wild 10-mile automobile chase, recuperated in a hospital today while authorities toted up the charges against her.

Shirley Ann Dickel of Lancaster, Pa., was reported in good condition. Doctors said the bullet which hit her had split, part lodging in the shoulder, part in the armpit.

The chase started Friday after the girl was stopped in Baltimore County for speeding. She followed a patrol car to the police station, but then stepped on the gas and sped away, being clocked by radar "in excess of 105 m.p.h."

Two police cars hit her red convertible at a road block, but she kept going. A mounted policeman spurred his horse back into the stable when she barreled past. About 15 police cars and motorcycles were in pursuit.

When she approached Baltimore harbor, motorcycle patrolman Earl Gabel pulled alongside and shot at the girl twice. Wounded, she pulled over, stopped and calmly lit a cigarette and awaited arrest.

The girl said she was running away from home because her father scolded her Thursday night for coming home late.

Her father, Frishman Dickel, told police: "She's a good girl. I didn't know anything about her running away from home."

Woman Routs Thug With Jar Barrage

ATLANTA (AP) — An Atlanta woman grocer drove off a would-be holdup man with a barrage of salt and mayonnaise jars.

Police said Mrs. Ora Rowe, 57, told them a young man came into her store Friday, ordered a box of salt and then pointed a long-bladed knife at her.

"He said, 'Gimme your money,'" she said. "I still had the pound box of salt in my hand. Without thinking I let fly with the box of salt. That must have surprised him because he ducked down and backed up. Then I grabbed up some mayonnaise jars and began to chuck them at him. He got out of there fast."

Cops Save Ohioan From Mexico Mob

MAZATLAN, Mexico (AP) — Maj. Robert Claire Taylor of Akron, Ohio, is in jail here after police saved him from an angry crowd Thursday. He is being held for investigation of an accident that killed an 8-year-old boy.

Police said a car driven by the Army officer, who was returning to Tucson, Ariz., with his wife Margaret after a vacation in Guadalupe, accidentally struck Jose Uguiza as it neared the village of Piaxtla near here.

The boy died instantly and his parents, joined by neighbors, seized Taylor. State police saved him from hanging and brought him to the Mazatlan jail.

No Explanation Found for Ghostly Happenings in Small Illinois Town

WILMINGTON, Ill. (AP) — No one has seen any sheet-draped forms drifting around yet, but there have been some mighty weird happenings laid to "ghosts" in nearby Rest Haven.

Mrs. Wayne Soltwedel, Wilmington correspondent of the Joliet Herald-News, said that while she was investigating reports of ghosts in a house, soap and soap dish hurtled from the bathroom wall, a stuffed kitten "jumped" off a television set twice, and magazines slid mysteriously from an end table.

The reporter was assigned the story after Mr. and Mrs. James Mikulecky and a granddaughter, Susan Wall, 15, reported to the Will County sheriff's office that ghosts were bothering them.

They gave this account: During the last week, a crocheting needle floated from a sewing box on their patio into the bedroom; a shoehorn from a

Police haven't yet come up with a satisfactory answer to the apparently free movement of the lifeless objects.

Dep. Sheriff Chester Moberly said Friday: "No evidence of a ghost. Could be some of the immediate family playing tricks, but no evidence of that yet."

Russell Fisher, chairman of the Northwestern University physics department, said he had never heard of such a situation.

"There are phenomena that people regard as ghostly that have a physical explanation," Fisher said, "but I know of no explanation for these things."

Kansas Couple Locked In Trunk of Auto

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The fingers protruding from the trunk of the passing car wiggled at him.

"I thought I was seeing things," said Lloyd L. Reavis, a driver examiner who was giving a test.

He looked again, jotted down the tax number and summoned motorcycle patrolman John Davis.

Davis stopped the automobile and, holding the driver at gunpoint, released a bedraggled young couple from the trunk.

The driver identified himself as James Richard Esson, 35, a fugitive Ohio killer. An automatic pistol lay on the seat beside him but he offered no resistance.

The victims, Airman Carl A. Wagner, 21, and his pregnant wife Molly, 18, of Salina, Kan., told a tale of terror which began at 2:30 Friday morning.

It was then that they stopped at Kingdom City Mo., 65 miles west of St. Louis on U. S. 40, and picked up a hitchhiker, Esson.

Esson pulled a gun and took over not long afterward.

THE REST OF the night, the couple said, was one of horror during which Esson pistol-whipped Wagner several times and kept them both, bound and gagged, in the trunk.

The Wagners worked loose from their bonds and succeeded in prying open the trunk enough to try and attract attention. First they tossed out what objects they could find in the trunk. Then Wagner stuck his fingers through the narrow opening and Reavis spotted them.

Wagner, stationed at Schilling Air Force Base near Salina, was treated for a head wound which required 15 stitches, and Mrs. Wagner for shock and cuts.

Esson escaped May 26, 1956, from the London, Ohio, prison farm where he was serving a life term for a holdup murder.

Pickaway 39th In Salaries For Officials

Salaries and wages paid to Pickaway County officials and employees totaled $466,900 in 1956 according to a report released today by State Auditor James A. Rhodes.

Pickaway, ranking 54th among the state's 88 counties in population, ranked 39th in total salaries and wages and 7th in the per capita cost of its payroll. Per capita cost in 1956 was $15.91.

Pike County had the highest per capita payroll cost in the state with $22.99. Neighboring Ross County, with $7.31, had the lowest.

Despite the general upward trend in payroll and operation costs, eight counties, including Ross, spent less on salaries and wages in 1956 than they did in 1955.

County payrolls for the entire state increased by more than $3.6 million or 4.5 per cent from 1955.

MY FRIEND

Folks used to wonder what Grandpa Brown and I had in common. He must have been close to eighty when I was just a kid. But I remember him as one of the best friends I ever had.

He was a wonderful old man, with a simple, native wisdom. We used to go fishing together, and he would talk to me about God and Faith and Love. I remember he used to say people shouldn't wait until they're in trouble before going to Church. "When you're happy," he told me, "take time out to offer a prayer of thanks for your good fortune."

The Church, he used to say, had acted as a balance wheel for him during good times, and a bulwark during bad times. Down through the centuries the Church has made great Christians out of unassuming people, who in turn have transmitted the blessings of the Church to the oncoming generations. I hope I can impress Grandpa Brown's Faith and Wisdom upon others as I was impressed by him.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

BRING A FRIEND TO CHURCH WITH YOU

Argentina Over the Hump

Argentina may be over the hump in the hard struggle back to constitutional government. In the recent election 8 million Argentines went to the polls to elect an assembly. This assembly will decide whether the 1853 constitution should be revised to curtail the executive powers and increase the powers of the provinces and municipalities.

Should the assembly approve revision, a second step will be taken next February 23. At that time a new constitutional government will be elected to take over the government on May 1.

The recent election upheld the reform forces and defeated the surviving Peron supporters. Barred as candidates, the Peronists cast nearly 2 million blank ballots. This action was recommended by the former dictator now in exile in Venezuela.

Gen. P. E. Aramburu, the provisional president, had been urged not to call the election because of a fear the Peronists would win a moral victory and thus head back toward power. He went ahead courageously and his faith was rewarded. The Argentines have suffered so greatly from the excesses of the Peron regime that it would have been amazing if they had returned a different verdict.

In the normal course of events Argentina again will become a strong republic and will aid in keeping other South American nations, now in revolutionary ferment, out of the clutches of dictators, red and otherwise.

Railroads' Fate Public Concern

American railways, seeing losses to airlines and trucks, and charging discrimination by public regulation, remind the public of the consequences of total elimination of the rails.

The current release points out that national unemployment would increase by 30 per cent if the rails became obsolescent, with a million persons thrown out of work. Consumer buying power would drop $5.3 billion—the amount paid in wages to rail employees. Shops servicing railroads would close.

A steep rise in tax rates would follow because, state and local governments collect $1.2 billion a year from the rails. More than 25,000 companies in 48 states would lose $2.8 billion of business annually if railroad demand for goods and services vanished. The steel industry alone would lose nearly $1 billion a year. The petroleum industry would lose $445 million. These industries would be compelled to dispense with the services of 315,000 employees.

As the rails transport goods cheaper, the cost of living would go up.

This is a statement to give concern to the American people. They can respond by insisting that government regulators give the rails a square deal. They can do little if the long term trends in transportation favor other modes of transport over the rails.

States Wiser than U.S.

From a presidential assistant comes a suggested reason why the states haven't been handling more of their own problems instead of running to Washington with them.

Meyer Kestnbaum told a House subcommittee on intergovernmental relations that one barrier to greater state action is found in limitations contained in state constitutions. This was an apparent reference to the budget-balancing requirements in most state constitutions. Nearly every state is constitutionally enjoined from spending in excess of its anticipated revenues.

Naturally, this sharply limits the scope of proposed state expenditures. As Kestnbaum points out, the "proponents of large programs today have found they can be more effective there is that Congress isn't under a constitutional directive to refrain from spending in excess of anticipated revenues.

Constitutional budget balancing restrictions certainly keep the states within bounds in their spending. Kestnbaum says not much has been done about changing these constitutional restrictions; But does anything really need to be done?

Instead of freeing the states of their budget-balancing requirements, perhaps the same requirement ought to be imposed on the federal government. Then there might be fewer federal-state matching programs that neither the federal government nor the states can really afford.

Teacher Salaries Much Too Low By George Sokolsky

Cheap labor can produce goods and services but starvation labor usually produces nothing. While in the budget the cost of the school system generally looks like an enormous item, pay for teachers is always low and is often not comparable, certainly for the starter, to that of a member of the Teamsters Union.

Therefore, the teaching profession attracts three types: 1) those who are willing to take a job that enjoys tenure and a pension and give to it as little as possible, skating through life to its inevitable end; 2) those who regard it as an interval between graduation from college and perhaps further study and a notable career; and 3) those who are dedicated persons to whom compensation means nothing but whose life ambitions are compensated by service.

All sorts of schemes are devised to make teaching attractive, except the proper plan of a decent wage comparable to wages found in other employment. If economies were made in the supply and building departments and graft eliminated, there might, even without increasing the budgets of any schools, be a way to increase teachers' salaries.

I would suggest to the various teachers' organizations that they look into the question of excessive purchases of supplies, of sewing machines and typewriters that are never used, of workshop tools that are never distributed, of school buildings that are placed where they are not needed. There is graft in all this and every cent of graft comes out of the teacher's pay.

I recently came across a speech by Dean Stephen M. Corey of Teachers College, Columbia University, in the course of which he goes after the foundations because they only give 10 per cent of their contributions to education. In his address, he says:

"... Seventy-seven of the largest (foundations) control more than two-thirds of all foundation resources. The five largest foundations, with their net worth, are as follows: Ford, about 2 1/2 billion; Rockefeller, about 500 million; Carnegie, about 250 million; Sloan, about 140 million; Kellogg, about 120 million. . . .

"It interests me to know that most of the contributions of these foundations, about 53 per cent, go for religious purposes. General welfare expenditures are next, and health next. Gifts to education account for some 10 per cent. . . .

Foundations nowadays seem to follow a policy devised by the Ford Foundation, probably in the days when Paul Hoffman and Robert M. Hutchins were so influential in that organization, to evolve a project and then find a university or other educational institution to carry it forward. The Ford Foundation had a subdivision called the Fund for the Advancement of Education which is no longer functioning. This Fund blew in money at a very rapid rate, on matters of its own devising but which it tried to get educational institutions to research favorably. Dean Corey says of this:

"This has led many people to feel that the officers of the Fund for the Advancement of Education . . . were convinced that certain educational practices were good ones and were willing to spend large sums of money demonstrating their worth and advertising their merits. . . . They do not seem to doubt the value of teacher aids, or the classroom use of television, or the value of an apprentice type of teacher education. . . .

"They are convinced that these practices have much to offer and are busily engaged in arguing that this is the case and in many instances granting funds in order to demonstrate that this is the case. . . .

In other words, they are willing to spend millions on a set-up, having some university lend its good name to a cause of which it is not too sure. An example is cited by Dean Corey which is most interesting:

"They tend to confuse, I believe, emergency measures with solid, long-view policies. This impression was reinforced recently in connection with the substantial support given the National Woodrow Wilson Fellowship Corporation. This latter represents, as most of you know, a 24 1/2 million dollar grant that is 'expected to stimulate gifted students to become teachers.' . . .

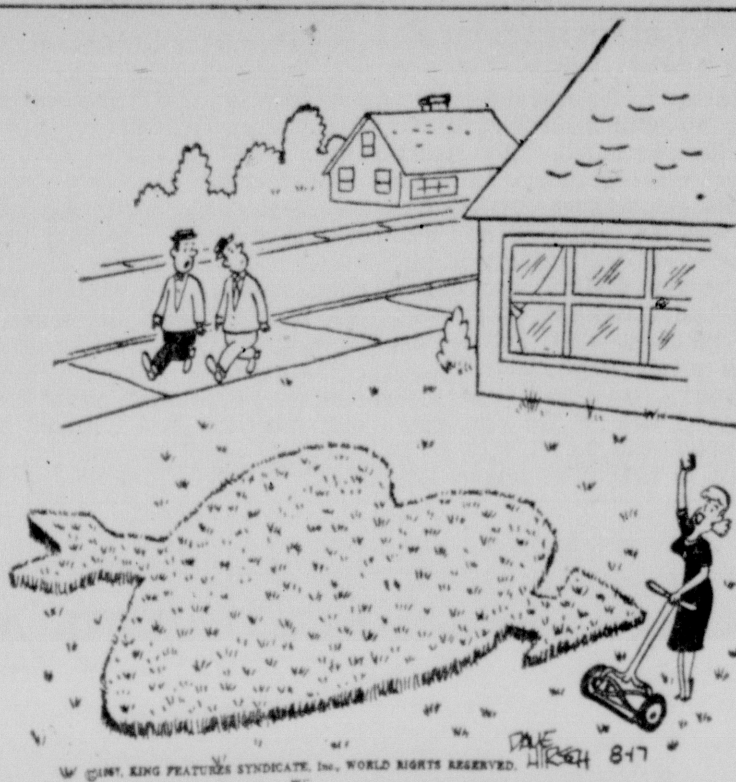

But what is the use of stimulating gifted students to want to be teachers when as Professor Boris E. Nelson says:

"Money to get 'gifted students' to go into teaching does not assure their becoming teachers or staying in the profession as long as the price tag on the profession is among the lowest."

Try and Stop Me

SKEPTICS WHO SUSPECTED there was a lot more going on than met the eye in the private lives of some ultra-respectable, aristocratic folk in Queen Victoria's day are chortling over the revelations in Cyril Pearl's "The Girl With the Swansdown Seat" (published by Bobbs Merrill). Some belles in London a century ago, maintains this Pearl of hilarious humor, concealed not only skeletons (and lords) in their private closets which were decorated lavishly with genuine jewels and rare materials. The celebrated "swansdown seat" belonged to a spectacular siren who knew more than a trick or two, did she, about how to separate heaps from goats. Author Pearl says there were some 80,000 similar circles in London at the time, and that most of them were faring far better financially than virtuous maidens toiling for the starvation wages so characteristic of the Industrial Revolution. It's different today, of course.

Hypertension Not Uncurable

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Low blood pressure, generally, is an asset. In fact, some authorities on the subject term it the "ideal" blood pressure. Low blood pressure simply means that it requires less effort for your heart to push blood through your arteries. But while you might not have anything to worry about as far as low blood pressure is concerned, high blood pressure, or hypertension, sometimes is quite another matter.

An estimated 5,000,000 Americans suffer from hypertension. Every one of them should at least consult a doctor for his advice.

Many persons, women especially, are able to stand high blood pressure better than others. If you are one of them, it is quite possible that your doctor will advise no treatment at all. If such is the case, consider yourself lucky.

But even if your doctor does recommend specific treatment, you are still a pretty lucky person. Science and Medicine have advanced so far in recent years that the future for a victim of hypertension is more favorable than ever before.

Still you've got to be a bit patient with your doctor. We have developed so many new drugs to aid the person with high blood pressure that it sometimes is a little difficult to select the best one for a specific patient.

Response to these various drugs varies greatly with individual patients. Consequently, your doctor may have to test several drugs and combinations of them to find just the right one for you.

In addition to drugs, your doctor probably will advise you to: Get plenty of sleep, don't become involved in competitive sports, don't worry, and keep your weight about normal.

About this latter problem, don't embark upon any reducing program without seeking your physician's recommendations. Reducing and low-sodium diets might be harmful if not properly supervised.

If you have hypertension, I think you might be interested in a new booklet, "High Blood Pressure," prepared by Dr. Edgar V. Allen, president of the American Heart Association. You can probably obtain it from your local AHA office.

M. A.: My child is now recovering from a liver infection. Should I disinfect his room?

Answer: It is not likely that the infection can be spread by objects in the room. Therefore disinfecting the room would not be of help.

British Dr. Owen McDonagh says girls who want a "Marilyn Monroe look" should wear high heels. Apparently he doesn't realize she got that look from a calendar.

"The stimulative sight of a neatly turned ankle in a decorative setting makes a day or evening for many of the opposite sex," says Dr. McDonagh. The shams of an evening, anyhow.

"High heels make a slouching walk impossible," says Dr. McDonagh. He must be hipped on the subject.

Said Bessie Braddock, Member of Parliament, "Women look dreadful mincing along on high heels." It must be that women who mince make Bessie wince.

Other doctors have said high heels cause bowlegs and knock-knees. You takes your choice and you buys your shoes.

There's no doubt about it, the chest is a big thing in American life. It makes men breathe.

Shoe sales should rejoice in an uplifted curve.

MARCH OF EVENTS

Interior Secretary Has Good Political Potential

Fred Seaton Is Promising
Vice Presidential Timber

By HENRY CATHCART
Central Press Washington Writer

WASHINGTON—While there is no boom underway, a number of administration officials are quietly discussing the possible political potential of Interior Secretary Fred Seaton in 1960 and after.

Seaton is warmly liked by President Eisenhower, key members of the White House family, senators and GOP state officials throughout the country.

Fred Seaton

He is still young and even though associated with "modern Republicanism" the one-time Nebraska senator is liked by conservatives in the party.

Friends concede that if Vice President Richard M. Nixon gets the GOP presidential nomination in 1960, Seaton's chances for the vice presidential spot will be lessened because of the geographical factor—both would be from west of the Mississippi.

However, astute political observers aren't counting him out for the nomination and they are convinced he is a man to watch in the future.

● BROWNELL'S REAL TARGET—Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr., said in London—where he attended the convention of the American Bar association—that he found many things wrong with the Justice department. He hit his predecessors for lax administration and failure to investigate or prosecute labor racketeers.

The actual targets of Brownell, however, were J. Howard McGrath and, by implication, Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark—not Brownell's immediate predecessor, James P. McGranery.

Brownell, since he took office, has twice publicly praised McGranery for beginning to "clean up" the department.

In some sources, the London statement was interpreted as hitting at McGranery. But it may be recalled that when the Justice department was under sharp criticism, then-President Harry S. Truman brought in Newbold Morris from New York to investigate the handling of government affairs. Morris was fired by McGrath, and Truman then demanded McGrath's resignation.

McGranery then came in, and, according to many experts, set up definite improvements during the nine months he was in office.

● IKE'S TACTICS—President Eisenhower reportedly is so nettled by Democratic charges that he has failed to show adequate leadership that he's almost sure to change his tactics toward Congress next year.

Administration sources say that, come next January, Ike will make a determined fight to push his legislative program through Congress and will put the pressure on any reluctant GOP members.

Mr. Eisenhower had felt, these sources explain, that his best hope of getting legislation enacted was to co-operate with the Democratic-controlled House and Senate. But the record of the 1957 session dispelled any such belief, they say, pointing out that only two or three major measures on the President's legislative list will be passed.

Before the next session convenes in January, the President will again lay down his legislative proposals, including many measures that failed to make any progress this year. And this time, the White House will put up a fight to get them passed.

Tax Agents Grab Con's Deposit Box

YOUNGSTOWN (AP)—Federal tax agents have tapped the safe deposit box of an Ohio penitentiary inmate and confiscated $43,821 in cash and bonds.

The government also confiscated the tavern formerly operated by the convict, Michael Aeri, and will sell the tavern at auction Aug. 26 to satisfy delinquent tax claims.

The government says Aeri, sentenced to life in December, 1947, for the fatal shooting of John Oravex, owed $103,838.54 in delinquent taxes from 1942 through 1946. Aeri had been convicted of second-degree murder.

Kingston Junior Women Hostess to District Clubs

Mrs. Ray Davis Gives Talk

Junior Club members from all over southeastern Ohio attended a Junior Evaluation Day held in Kingston on Thursday for clubs affiliated with the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs.

Hostesses for the affair, held in the Methodist Church, were members of the Kingston Civic Club of which Mrs. A. D. Etter is the president.

General Chairman for the day was Mrs. Paul Kerns.

Arrangements for the day were made by Mrs. Dwight Davis of Kingston, Southeast District Junior Director, who presided during both the morning and afternoon sessions.

Miss Elizabeth Black and Mrs. Russell Lightner, Kingston sponsors of the Civic Club, presided at the coffee services during a coffee hour which preceded the meeting.

The invocation was given by Mrs. Kenneth Luna, past president of Circleville Junior Woman's Club to begin the morning session which included a symposium with Mrs. O. W. Davis of Nelsonville, State Director of Juniors speaking on Federation; Mrs. Charles Bruny of Jackson, State Chairman of Program Planning service of fering ideas for program planning; Mrs. A. E. Howell, Jr. of Oak Hill, Junior Secretary, whose subject was Club Ethics and Mrs. William Douglas of Ironton, District Junior Chairman of Extension, whose subject was club extension.

The afternoon session which followed a luncheon at the church, began with organ music with William Russell, music director of Kingston Schools at the console.

Mrs. Ray W. Davis, of Circleville, president of the Ohio Federation in speaking to the group stressed that, "the Federation standards of quality of womanhood is very high; one thing we must be careful never to do, is lower that standard." Mrs. Davis also described in detail the current projects of the Ohio Federation including the new Epsilon Sigma Omicron home reading course which is being made available to club women through the efforts of the Ohio Federation and the Bureau of Adult and Special Education at Ohio State University.

Other speakers heard during the afternoon were Mrs. O. W. Davis of Nelsonville, Mrs. John Ferguson, District President of Southeast District and Mrs. Sterling Poling of Circleville, State Chairman of Public Relations and editor of the "Buckeye", official publication of the Ohio Federation.

County 4-H Flower Growers Display at Exhibit-Revue

Cythia Thompson Wins First Place

A special feature of the 4-H Exhibit-Revue held Thursday in the Pickaway County Fairgrounds Coliseum was the "Flower Garden" Entry. This was a cooperative entry made by the Happy Diggers Club and Donna Mowery of a Jackson Twp. Club.

The exhibit was an interesting one, according to the judge.

Advisors of the Happy Digger Club are Mrs. Walter Pickel and Mrs. George Myers.

Handy Hatfield, club treasurer, was the only member with 2nd year experience. His exhibit was a neatly and artistically "graded" arrangement of zinnias and 3 specimens of other flowers from his extensive garden.

First year members exhibited specimens of three different flowers from their garden which contained at least six different annual flowers.

Mrs. Richard Jones, assisted by Donna Hardman, 4-H Junior Leader, served as judge and with special elaboration, announced the first 10 places as follows:

1st, Cynthia Thompson; 2nd, Linda Cassidy; 3rd, Jeff Dunlap, club president; 4th, Marlene Leist; 5th, Mike Felkey, club Health and Safety leader; 6th, Brenda Johnson; 7th, Mike Lorentz; 8th, Charles Rice, club secretary; 9th, Donna Mowery; and 10th, Nancy Pickel.

Local Naturalist, Floyd Bartley Visits East

Floyd Bartley, Route 4, Circleville, has returned home after a visit in the East. Bartley, well known amateur naturalist of Pickaway County, visited for a few days with Mrs. Richard Cole, Baltimore, Md. There he met other botanists with whom he had been in correspondence.

A highlight of his trip was a tour of the New Jersey Pine Barrens, a place noted for its rich flora. Bartley says he saw several specimens of the yellow orchid. Orange milkwort was in full bloom and according to Bartley is a flower of rare beauty.

During one field trip he found an unusual grass which produces seed on its roots.

In Washington, D. C. he had an appointment with Dr. Emory Leonard of the Smithsonian Institute Herbarium. Bartley has frequently contributed rare specimens to Smithsonian and Dr. Leonard displayed these to him. Bartley was pleased, he said, with the careful mounting of his contributions.

Dr. Leonard expressed his interest in Bartley's contributions and urged him to "keep up the good work".

Miss Deanna Evans, Honor Guest at Buffet Supper

Mrs. Miller Dunkle Hostess at Party

The home of Mrs. H. Miller Dunkle was the scene of a buffet dinner honoring Miss Deanna Evans, bride-elect of Mr. Donald Carroll.

Guests were served from a table covered with a pink linen cloth and pink tapers in silver candelabra entwined with ivy leaves, pink and white petunias.

Centering the table was a silver and pink overlay fruit basket. The guest of honor was presented with tea towels which were hemmed by the guests during the evening.

Assisting Mrs. Dunkle were Mrs. Harriet Kaylor, Mrs. James Weaver and Mrs. Robert Nothstine.

Guests were Miss Evans, Mrs. Edward Evans, Mrs. Howard Carroll, the sugar with a spatula or a straight-edged knife.

Bible Class Meets In Service Center

The Shining Light Bible Class of the First Evangelical United Brethren Church held a meeting in the service center recently.

The program was a cooperative affair in which each member took part. The meeting opened with a Bible verse by each person present.

The "Beauty of the Fall Season" was the theme of the program. Members told what interested them most about the season. Group singing and a circle prayer led by class teacher, Mrs. Carlos Brown concluded the program.

A dessert course was served by the following hostesses: Mrs. A. H. Morris, Mrs. Isley Greeno and Miss Ann Greeno.

An arrangement of fall flowers centered the table.

Cards Show New Signs of Making Fight

St. Louis Crew Pounds League-Leading Braves With 6-2 Victory

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The St. Louis Cardinals may be able to manage a series after drawing the line at nine consecutive losses by junking Milwaukee's winning ways, but they have a long way to go to get a back-in-the-race feeling.

With a hitting lapse as much to blame as anything for the slump that plunged them out of the National League lead, the Cardinals swung for 12 hits in beating the first-place Braves, who had won 10 in a row, 6-2 Friday night.

The victory put them within 7 1/2 of the Braves, with three more games remaining in the Milwaukee series, and kept St. Louis a point ahead of third-place Brooklyn, a 4-1 winner over Pittsburgh.

Chicago's Cubs knocked off fourth-place Cincinnati 8-6 in 12 innings. New York took two at Philadelphia, collecting an 8-7 decision in the completion of an April 28 suspended game, then handing Robin Roberts his 16th defeat 2-1.

In the American League, the second-place Chicago White Sox blew another chance to gain on New York, losing to Detroit 6-2 while Baltimore's rising Orioles knocked off the Yankees 4-3 in 11 innings. The Yanks still lead it by 5 1/2.

Boston, with Ted Williams sitting it out because of a stiff neck, was blanked by Chuck Stobbs in a 5-0 Washington victory that hoisted the Nats into a seventh-place tie with Kansas City, beaten 4-2 by Cleveland.

The Cardinals, who also picked up seven walks, clubbed Gene Conley with a three-run first, triggered by Walker Cooper's two-run, two-out double. Ed Emms rapped a three-run homer off Juan Pizarro to wrap it up in the seventh.

Lindy McDaniel won his 10th, but got the game when the Braves scored their pair in the seventh with two out. Hoyt Wilhelm, Wilmer Mizell and Billy Muffett finished up.

Hank Aaron of the Braves was 1-for-5 for a .326 average, while Card Stan Musial was 2-for-5 for .333. Aaron keeps the lead, however, with more at-bats.

Dodger Manager Walt Alton lifted southpaw ace, Johnny Podres, who admitted to some arm trouble after giving up a walk and single with one out in the ninth. Ed Roebuck came on for the last two outs, nailing Podres' 10th victory. Bob Purkey lost his 10th.

The ninth was tough for Baltimore's Bill Wight, also. He had the Yanks in hand with two out, but Yogi Berra came off the bench and hit his 18th home run for a 3-3 tie. Wight worked the 10th and finally collected a 5-5 record with his third victory, against no defeats, over the champs when Billy Goodman tripled and George Kell, pinch-hitting for the 35-year-old southpaw, dumped a single over a drawn in infield.

Art Ditmar lost his first in relief, for an 8-3 record.

Yankee Mickey Mantle picked up two points for a .383 average with 2-for-4. Williams has a .393 mark.

Billy Hoelt, now 5-7 after winning 20 last season, rode out an 11-hitter to beat the White Sox and Jim Wilson, who had won four in a row. Home runs by Ray Boone and Charlie Maxwell powered a four-run third.

The Red Sox were checked on five hits by Stobbs at Washington as the veteran lefty gained a 6-15 record. He fanned seven, getting Billy Consolo four times, twice with the bases loaded.

George Susce was the loser.

Dick Williams and Rocky Colavito homered and got the job done for the Indians and Mike Garcia, now 6-7. Alex Kellner lost it.

Jim Brosnan claimed the Cubs' third victory in 14 games with the Redlegs, blanking them on two hits for five frames until Walt Moryn hit a payoff two-run homer off lefty reliever Don Gross, 4-7.

Ray Jablonski smashed a two-run homer in the ninth after Roberts had shut out the Giants on four hits for eight. It was the 31st homer off Robin. Stu Miller won in relief. Marv Grissom's 2-2-3 innings of shutout pitching clinched the completion of the suspended game.

Rams, Packers Win Grid Openers

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Ram coach Sid Gillman gives the credit for Los Angeles' smashing 45-14 victory over the Washington Redskins to co-captains Norm Van Brocklin and Bill Sherman.

"Those boys have instilled great team spirit in the players," said Gillman, who watched the Rams roll over Washington in their National Football League opener Friday night before 85,871 fans.

The game, along with the Green Bay-Chicago Cardinals game in Miami, marked the opening of the NFL exhibition season. The Packers whipped the Cardinals 24-16 before 20,820 as Bobby Dillon turned two intercepted passes into touchdowns.

Southern Ohio Grid Stars Humble North by 26-0 Tally

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Southern Ohio high school football is riding high today. The Rebel all stars handed the Yankees a convincing 26-0 setback Friday night in the 12th annual North-South game before a crowd of 18,000.

It was the first whitewashing suffered by the Upstarters. The victory was the first for the South since 1952.

The victory margin matched the series record and pulled the Rebels even with the Northerners at five victories each and two ties.

The surprising thing was the ease with which the Southerners handled the favored Northern team.

The vaunted Yankee passing attack flat, with no completed aeriels in five attempts. One was intercepted. All three Southern passes, thrown by Howard Converse of Lima Shawnee, were completed, for 59 yards. One went for a 28-yard touchdown.

The Southerners punted only three times, none in the last half.

The Rebels scored on a 17-yard run by Middletown halfback John Moore in the first period. Converse threw his 28-yard scoring pass to Leon Mitchell of Middletown in the third. Mark Grim of Columbus North went 53 yards to score on a trap play in the same period, and the winners climaxed it with a 9-play, 78-yard drive, which Nelson Owens of Springfield ended with a 7-yard jaunt.

Grim was the night's big performer. He raced 130 yards in 14 tries, just four yards short of the North team's entire output.

Despite the fine running and pass catching of the Southerners, the difference in the ball game was Converse. His wizardry in hiding the ball on the intricate split-T offense had the Northerners guessing all night.

Converse will attend the University of Cincinnati this fall. Grim, the big ground gainer, will go to Ohio State.

Ike Grimley, Canton McKinley All-Ohio quarterback who led the Bulldogs to their second straight state championship last fall, and about whom the Northern offense was constructed, had a not-too-impressive evening.

He muffed a fair catch attempt in the first period, giving the ball to the South on the Yankee 25 yard line, from where the Rebels scored their first touchdown.

He gumbled a couple of other kicks, and two of his short punts, one for 26 yards and another for about 30, put the Rebels in position for their two third period scores.

The All-Ohio star, however, led his team in ground gaining, with 43 yards in seven attempts.

The North, with four All-Ohio stars in the backfield, failed to get into South territory in the first period; reached the Rebel 36 once in the second, but lost the ball on downs, and got to the South's 40 in the third period. The only Yankee scoring chance came in the dying minutes, when a Northern punt struck a Southern player on the 25 yard line and the North recovered.

The Yankees zoomed to the 7 yard line, but the South took the ball on downs with less than a minute to play.

Despite the loss, the North still holds a 195-166 scoring edge for the 12 games.

Mitchell and Moore, who scored two of the South's touchdowns, will enroll at Miami University next month, while Owens, who scored the fourth, is undecided on which school to attend.

The Springfielder played a great game on both offense and defense, gaining 36 yards on five runs and making tackles all over the field.

Homers, Good Pitching Help Indians Win

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Home runs by Rocky Colavito and Dick Williams and the seven-hit pitching of Mike Garcia carried the Cleveland Indians to a 4-2 victory over the Kansas City Athletics Friday.

Colavito's two-run homer in the sixth inning brought home the winning run.

Garcia posted his sixth victory against seven defeats by striking out six and walking two.

The A's scored both their runs in the fourth when Bob Cery walked and Garcia hit Woody Held with a pitch. Singles by Hector Lopez and pitcher Alex Kellner brought the runs home.

Kellner gave up all four Cleveland runs and went down to his fifth loss. Wally Burnette pitched the last two innings for Kansas City.

Williams got the Indians off to an early lead with a homer over the fence in the first inning.

Colavito led off the second inning with a walk and Chico Carrasquel singled. Both runners advanced when first baseman Vic Power let Kellner's pickoff throw get past him. Garcia bounced a slow roller to third base and Colavito was thrown out when he attempted to score. Al Smith followed with a single and Carrasquel came home with the second run.

The score remained tied at 2-2 until the sixth. Bobby Avila singled with one out and came home on Colavito's home run.

Speedboat King Fails To Set Mark

CANANDAIGUA, N. Y. (AP)—Britain's Donald Campbell broke the water barrier on Canandaigua Lake Friday, but a swell produced by a pleasure boat prevented him from breaking his own world water mark of 225.63 miles an hour.

The speedboat king hit a top speed of 240 miles an hour on his first run over the one-kilometer course. When his Bluebird struck the swell, the jet-powered hydroplane jumped two feet out of the water for more than 200 feet.

The swell slowed Campbell's average on the first run to 220.83 m.p.h. He made only 198.67 on the second run, necessary for a world mark.

The water barrier is set hypothetically at 225.63 miles an hour, the same as the world mark.

with Ralph Schneider of Cleveland, the 1949 winner.

Dave Daniels of Columbus, who won two years ago as a 16-year-old, was tied at 147 with Rex Vrabie, a Youngstown steel company supervisor. Also high in the fight were Chris Fostines, 32-year-old unemployed steelworker from Massillon, with 146; Frank Gacke of Cleveland, a construction worker, and 18-year-old Bob Black of Massillon, a Purdue student, deadlocked at 145.

Circleville Merchants banged out 15 hits for a 9-1 victory over Norman's Tavern of Chillicothe last night at Ted Lewis Park.

Sandy Hill and Joe Drake hurried for the Merchants, allowing the visitor three hits.

The Merchants' Carl Bumgarner slammed a homerun and Ted Sims had three hits in five times at bat.

Next encounter for the Merchants is tomorrow when they travel to London Prison farm for a doubleheader.

Gopher Balls Really Hurt Redleg '9'

CHICAGO (AP)—An epidemic of gopher ball pitches is sweeping through the pitching staff of the Cincinnati Redlegs.

The latest outbreak came Friday and spoiled a tight relief performance by Don Gross.

The lefthander had held the Chicago Cubs to seven hits while the Reds pulled even, 6-6. But he served up a pitch in the 12th inning that Walt Moryn blasted for a two-run homer. It gave the Cubs the victory, 8-6.

The recent three-game series with Milwaukee had a similar home run element. For example, Brave pitcher Lew Burdette banded his first two homers as a major leaguer in the first game. The Braves accounted for seven runs with four homers in the third.

There was a hint of wholesale slugging in Friday's game, too.

The Cubs hit starter Art Fowler free and easy in the first inning. They scored five runs—three of them on Ernie Banks' home run.

The Reds managed to tie it up in the sixth, 5-5, when they punched out three runs.

Jim Brosnan, who came on in the eighth, held the Rhinelanders hitless until the 12th inning. The Reds loaded the bases there on

Sarazen Leading U.S. Senior Open

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—Gene Sarazen carried his single stroke lead into the second half of the first National Senior Open Golf tournament today, but the Esmeralda course was still sizzling from the record-tying round turned in by an even older pro.

Sarazen, 55-year-old title winner from Germantown, N. Y., added a three under par 67 Friday to his opening 65 for a halfway total of 132. This was a stroke better than Charles Shappard of West Newton, Mass., with a 67-66-133.

Harry F. West, chief, accounting and budget section, Ohio Department of Natural Resources, has announced that hunting license agencies throughout Ohio are receiving their initial supply of 1957 licenses and digests.

According to West all areas of the state will have an adequate number on hand before the September 1 deadline, time for the new license to become effective.

The hunting license is effective from September 1, 1957 through August 31, 1958. The resident hunting and trapping license costs $2 plus the 25 cents writing fee. It is required of all persons hunting and trapping who have resided in Ohio for six months or more preceding date of application for license, except that the owner and children of owner of land and the tenant or manager or children of tenant or manager, residing on such land, may hunt or trap thereon without a hunting and trapping license.

Cost of a non-resident hunting and trapping license is $15, plus the 25 cents writing fee. It is required of all persons who have not resided in Ohio for a period of six months or more next preceding date of application for license. Members of the armed forces while on active duty are not required to have a hunting and trapping license.

IN THE event a sportsman loses his hunting license a duplicate hunting and trapping license is obtainable only from the clerk or agent who issued the original license. The cost is 50 cents. A duplicate license is issued only if the original is lost, stolen or destroyed.

As a result of recent legislation enacted by the 102nd General Assembly which provides for a free fishing license (after September 17) to Ohio residents 65 years or over who receive financial assistance from the Ohio Division of Aid for the Aged, the Division of Wildlife has had numerous calls inquiring as to whether or not this would also apply to hunters. It should be pointed out that this law does not affect hunters and therefore persons 65 years or over who receive financial assistance from the Ohio Division of Aid for the Aged and who hunt in Ohio must purchase a hunting license.

Hunters are going to be asked to "take the pledge" during the month of September. In this case the pledge is the Red Cap Month pledge of the Izaak Walton League of America.

Red Cap Month is a national action program built around the red hunting cap as the symbol of hunting safety and hunting manners. It is designed to encourage respect for legal and moral hunting laws, to help foster safety in the use of firearms, to help promote respect for the rights of property owners by hunters, to prevent range and forest fires, and to help perpetuate hunting as a national sport for ourselves and future generations.

Red Cap Month has been endorsed by President Eisenhower and other national and state conservationists.

During the month of September, the hundreds of local chapters of the Izaak Walton League will attempt to bring their story of the Red Hunting Cap to every hunter in the country. Their goal—to have as many hunters as possible sign a Red Cap Month pledge card and then go into the field and hunt by this code.

THE RED Hunting Cap, as the symbol of hunting safety and hunting manners, has been adopted by the League as a hallmark of this combination safety - conservation program.

Red Cap Month is an ambitious undertaking for the 35 year old Izaak Walton League, yet it is only another of the projects and programs which it has conducted over the years—all to back up their avowed purpose of "Building a Better Outdoor America."

Critic Says Movies on TV Must Be Good to Impress

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — There's scant else to watch but old movies on TV this summer, so let's talk about old movies.

Yes, I watch them, same as you. It gives me a chance to see the movies I've missed (usually I'm not sorry I missed 'em). Or I can determine if the pictures were as good as I thought they were (usually they're not).

Let me say this: it takes a mighty good movie to impress you on TV.

Lack of immediacy has something to do with this. You know the movie was made 10 or 20 years ago, played itself out and is now wheezing around on TV to earn a few bucks for its makers. The actors are that much older, or have died. It's sort of like watching a moving museum.

Another thing—the movies were made for the monster screen, not the teeny one. The longshots get all muddled up on my 16-inch. Then there's something else. The commercials. Oh, brother! Those pitchmen who come in at every reel are the best argument for pay-TV.

Sometimes it's worth facing up to all those hurdles. Sometimes a movie zings across the screen with a finesse that makes you realize the films can be a real art. Not often, but just often enough to make you keep coming back for more.

Child Eats Plaster, Dies in Cincy Clinic

CINCINNATI — Two-year-old Janet Jones, who hospital attaches said had been eating plaster, died here Friday.

Physicians said the plaster contained a lead-base paint and that the child's death apparently was due to lead poisoning.

Ohio GOP To Parley

COLUMBUS — Ohio Republican leaders will discuss preliminary plans for the 1958 state campaign at a dinner meeting here Aug. 25.

3-State Check Counterfeiting Ring Broken

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Deputy sheriffs claimed here Friday they had smashed a three-state check and license counterfeiting ring with arrest of two men and a woman and confiscation of a press and other printing equipment in a local residence.

They said they were holding for investigation of forgery these persons: James Laycock, 39, his wife, Marietta, 41, and Howard Miller, 55, all of in and near Columbus.

Federal agents were called in to question the trio.

The deputy sheriffs said they raided a house on a tip and made the arrests. They added that the three would be questioned about a flood of counterfeit checks and drivers' licenses circulated in Ohio, Indiana and West Virginia.

Lt. Herman Beck of the sheriff's office said large sheets of cashiers-type check paper, a paper cutter, developing fluid, ink and other equipment were seized.

Deputy Sheriff Clyde Mann and Clinton Twp. Constable Buck Stillman said they found two checks for $118.85 each, printed on the Richter Transfer Co. and on the Lambert Construction Co. of Huntington, W. Va.

Another check was found made out to the J. M. Hamilton Stone Co. of Marion, Ohio. The signa-

Farm Gear Disappears So Does Hired Man

Sleeping Sickness Fatal

DAYTON — A sufferer from the effects of sleeping sickness for 23 of his 38 years, Herbert Hosbrook of Dayton went into a coma Friday and was dead upon arrival at a hospital.

Records on the checks corresponded to names on counterfeit drivers' licenses, the deputies said.

The sheriff's office has asked Ashland County and Cleveland authorities to hunt for other suspects in the case.

Eastern Money Men Battling Over MGM, Once a Leader

HOLLYWOOD — What's the matter with MGM?

While other studios go forward in their fight for existence, MGM has had to stand still as Eastern money men battle for control.

The proxy battle has had a withering effect. Good movies require strong, forceful studio control, directed by a hard-driving man.

The bosses at MGM have no such direction. They look to New York for direction and find only bitter financial wrangles.

But the real story is the human operation of the massive studio. It is the story of three men: Irving Thalberg, Louis B. Mayer, Dore Schary.

MGM climbed to greatness under Thalberg, perhaps the most creative producer the films have known. His death in 1936 left a void that has never been filled.

Mayer took over complete control of production. His great talent was as a discoverer of stars. Under him, MGM collected the greatest galaxy in film history. Profits rose.

But glamor wasn't enough after the war. Nor were stars. Schary was chosen to bolster MGM's sagging fortunes.

His regime put forth some big profit grossers, but he was faced with some tough situations:

1. The government had forced the studios to get rid of their theaters. Thus MGM had to stand or fall on the studio operation.

2. Schary said he was faced with a monstrous overhead. Included was the Mayer galaxy of prime. Some claim Schary didn't make full use of the stars.

3. Schary was prevented by New York for making enough pictures a year to absorb the great overhead.

4. MGM adopted a head-in-the-sand attitude toward TV while other studios gained the gravy.

Schary was ousted to please irate stockholders. Some new blood has been injected and MGM has sallied into TV. But the problem of making the quality pictures that Thalberg used to produce remains the same.

Lima Deputies Solve Theft In Findlay

FINDLAY, Ohio — Sheriff's deputies from neighboring Allen County, working on another case, discovered a theft in Hancock County before local authorities here even heard about it.

The deputies from Lima had gone to Antwerp in Paulding County in search of materials stolen from a home construction project in Lima.

At a junk dealers, the deputies found lead sheeting which was to be used for an X-ray laboratory at the new Blanchard Valley Hospital in Findlay. The dealer had bought the sheeting, but also had
